Step-by-Step: How to Rebook a American Flight

The steps below outline the general rebooking process. For any step where you run into complications, a American rebooking agent is available by phone to take over and handle the change directly.

Step 1 - Locate Your Booking Confirmation

Find your American confirmation number (Record Locator) - a 6-character alphanumeric code in your original booking email and e-ticket. You will need this to access your reservation for any rebooking request.

📞 Can't find your confirmation? Call +18002468278 - an agent can locate your booking using your name and travel details.

Step 2 - Identify Your Preferred New Flight

Check American's schedule for available flights on your new preferred date and route. Note the flight numbers, departure times, and available fare classes before initiating any change.

📞 Not sure which flight fits? Call +18002468278 - a booking specialist can search all available American options.

Step 3 - Understand Change Fees and Fare Differences

Depending on your ticket type, rebooking may involve a fare difference if the new flight is priced higher. Basic Economy tickets are most restricted. Flexible fares and Medallion members may have more favorable terms.

📞 Before committing, call +18002468278. An agent will tell you exactly what costs apply to your specific fare - no surprises.

Step 4 - Initiate the Rebooking

Online tools handle some straightforward changes, but complex itineraries, multi-leg bookings, disruption-related rebookings, and certain fare types are better handled by a American agent with direct access to your reservation.

American specialist - available to process your change now.

Step 5 - Confirm Your New Booking
